

Work of the Women's Institutes in Alberta

THREE INSTITUTES MEET
THE first meeting of the three Institutes in Alberta was held at the residence of Miss Ethel Mabel Noble, the provincial president. "It is a glorious conclusion that any gathering will be a success," said Miss Noble, "and I am sure that all the members of Dauphin and Killam will be equally happy. That they accepted is shown by the fact that about one hundred attended."

"I have attended many successful gatherings," continued Miss Noble, "but this is the first in which we were known as the spirit better."

The chief feature of the afternoon was a singing contest, in which five schools in the district entered singing school. The ages of the children taking part in it ranged from seven to fifteen years. It was decided that the judges had a difficult task to select the best singing school, as the entries appeared very much at ease, no one had to be prompted, that they sang with good intonation and articulation was good and their general deportment was excellent, according to many an older one.

We have heard of the singing contests for the high school boys and girls but not much in speech to date. We have heard of the singing for the reason I would like to recommend all Institutes to follow this example. It has been mentioned before that a declamation contest is to be held in the fall.

The program in detail for the afternoon was as follows: a short talk from the May meeting in which she urged the parents to take on more responsibility for the training of their children; a demonstration of how to make the clothes for a little blind girl of the neighborhood who is blind; a talk on the importance of the fall.

"We are getting together, writes Mrs. Noble, "and we are looking forward to more and more activities. A fine social evening and an old-fashioned sing-along followed the meeting.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Noble, the provincial president, and the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Noble. The speakers were Mrs. H. C. Morrison, president of the Dauphin Institute; Mrs. Margaret P. MacLean, president of the Killam Institute; Mrs. Alice Clark, Miss Billy Stewart, secretary; Alan Pyron, recitation; and Mrs. Noble, president.

The judges for the singing competition were Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Ethel Mabel Noble, Miss Jean Moore, Mamie Larocque, Mrs. Alice Clark, Miss Billy Stewart, secretary; Alan Pyron, recitation; and Mrs. Noble, president.

The Dauphin and Killam ladies enjoyed the whole entertainment immensely and passed the idea along to other Institutes to get together.

ROSE MORGAN AT CONVENTION
All institute members who will please attend the 1921 convention will be pleased to meet Mrs. Rose Morgan of Columbia University, who led the community sing-along at the 1920 convention, which is being held at the University of Alberta this week. Mrs. Morgan occupies an unique position in the world of women's work, as she is the first woman to bring the people to learn and prefer the songs of the past. At the present day, there is an irresistible charm in the old songs, and Mrs. Morgan, by the time her short talk is finished, will have shown the audience that everyone knows the whole assembly is singing with a joy-inspiring enthusiasm.

MANY LEAVING
Reddell reports that on account of the number of students leaving town Indians of the province the president, Mrs. Clark, and the secretary, Mrs. Price, have been unable to attend the meeting, which is being held at the University of Alberta this week. Mrs. Morgan was elected president, and Mrs. Price, vice-president. Dr. Price gave a talk on "The Relation of Home and Church" at the last meeting.

The Daily Poem

MY GARDEN

I can not have a garden on the coast,
But I can have the sky and the sun,
I can not have the earth with a spirit
alive and keen,

But I can have the cherry blossoms blow.

A garden with joy the very soul of me;
A garden in which the flowers bloom
With balsam of human love and sympathy.

A garden that I carry wherever I go;

What distant journeys I may start,
That fill my weary hours with a weariness
As it becomes in the confines of my heart.

—John Kendrick Bangs.

E.C.D. MILK IS A COMPLETE FOOD

A GREAT many parents, in referring to the ill-health of their children, speak of them as "run-down," "without appetite," "delicate," "pale," "under-sized," "nervous," etc.

What the parents really mean is that the children are suffering from mal-nutrition. In other words, the children do not get enough of the right kind of food.

Mal-nutrition is generally the result of ignorance, and not of poverty. Investigation has proved that a very large percentage of physical disability caused by mal-nutrition is prevalent among the children of the rich. These sub-normal children are handicapped for the stern competition of life. Under-weight children develop into inefficient citizens.

The Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund of Chicago, which believes that the teaching of health, through Nutrition Classes is just as important as the teaching of the three R's, undertook in 1919 to estimate the amount of mal-nourishment among pupils in the Chicago schools by weighing and measuring 10,000 children. They found that forty per cent. were underweight for their height.

Milk is a perfect food. It contains the five vital elements for nutrition—protein, fat, carbohydrate, ash, and water. Not another food can compete with it in this respect. It makes a perfectly balanced diet.

Alderman Rice Sheppard stated the other day at a meeting of the Safety and Health Committee of the City Council, that a large proportion of children do not get half enough milk. This was the conclusion arrived at as a result of the test sponsored by the Federation for Child Study, of New York. During a summer vacation 811 children were regularly given a diet in which milk largely predominated. At the end of the vacation all of them showed a gain in weight, the gain in 630 cases being particularly marked.

Dr. Ira C. Brown, medical inspector, Seattle public schools, says the chief cause of faulty development in children is that they do not get a sufficient supply of good milk.

Milton C. Potter, Supt. of Schools, Milwaukee, found that an increased milk diet transformed the backward pupils into bright, progressive scholars. He says: "Their behaviour improved. Their minds expanded. Their bodies began to make healthy growth."

Economize on anything else, but never on your milk bill. Every child should drink milk. Prof. Graham Lusk, of Cornell University, one of the most highly-recognized authorities on food and nutrition, says: "No family of five should buy meat until they have bought at least three quarts of milk."

And when you buy milk, buy E. C. D. Pasteurized Milk—milk in which there are no disease-producing germs—milk that is rich, safe, sweet, clean, pure and wholesome.

Board of Management V. O. N. Will Still Meet In July and August

Illinois Women Go On Record Against Cigarette Smoking

Miss Edward R. Bailey of Chicago has been a leader of the Illinois State League against cigarette smoking.

The convention went on record as sympathetic to the Lucy Page Garrison campaign to prohibit the widespread campaign "to protect the health of women and to stop smoking among women."

What Did He Mean?

"To me the same horse you had when you last used him doesn't seem as though he's fit to ride," he said. "No, and he never was."

Their Suggestions

"Get rid of him at once," advised an expert.

"Keep him and dodge the sun from his wagon," said a woman.

"The sun is greater than his wages," suggested an Irishman—fit-bit.

Searching for Prehistoric Remains In the Valley of Red Deer River

(By J. E. P.)

News that a partial skull and in all probability a complete skeleton of a Stegosaurus had been discovered in the valley of the Red Deer River valley recently was flashed over the telegraph.

Nowhere in every country of the civilized world mentioned the name of Stegosaurus more frequently than in the United States.

It is the opinion of Mr. Charles Sternberg, the famous paleontologist, that the discovery made in the Red Deer River Valley is the greatest find of the year.

Toronto, and the third for the United States. There is nothing about these parties to suggest that there is a Stegosaurus on each one.

The Stegosaurus was found in the valley of the Red Deer River valley recently was flashed over the telegraph.

The three bones have no letters after their names. They all became very interested in the discovery, and the party had a hard school of experience with their knowledge of the subject.

Mr. Sternberg started out with his father when he was only fourteen years old, and he has been in the field ever since. His first job was with the American Museum of Natural History, and he has been in geological surveys ever since.

And on the party started the half mile hike to the spot where the fossils were found. This spot was visible only as an excavation in the ground, but it was evident that it was a spot of interest.

Mr. Sternberg uncovered part of the ground for inspection and examination.

The Cross

By this Sign Conquer!

EXT MONDAY MORNING, in every city, town, hamlet and rural community reached by the uttermost copy of this newspaper, faithful servants of the RED CROSS will be ready and waiting to pin on your breast the little emblem that means our consecration to a great modern Crusade. For next week is the week of your enrolment in the Red Cross—your participation in the formal inauguration of what may well become the greatest single step forward for the physical well-being of mankind that civilization in all its ages has yet witnessed.

For the first time in history, a single simultaneous organized effort of all the people of all countries is being put forth on a clearly conceived basis,—a well-defined and uniformly devised plan of Constructive Charity!

The new Crusade of the Red Cross aims not merely to carry the cup of sympathy to the suffering, but to remove the cause, prevent the occurrence, to make disease unnecessary.

THE three essential features of the development of the new International Red Cross policy are: the extension of membership, education in public health, and the adoption of a continuous program calculated to meet the needs of each individual country and community in improving health conditions.

Through the last century science made possible a wonderful progress in the maintaining of public health. A great physician, DR. MAYO, has said that on this American continent the average duration of life in our progressive communities had been lengthened by more than a decade of years through the application of scientific methods of safeguarding health.

This world-wide march of progress has been given a terrific, unmeasurable setback through the consequences of a conflict which shook the very foundations of civilization.

And now back from the fields of war, envisioned by experience, comes the consecrated hand of the Red Cross Nurse, asking us in the name of humanity to permit her to apply to our needs here at home that vision and faith and knowledge which she gained in the blood-strewn shambles of the battlefield.

She asks us for such a little bit,—only for each one of us to remember and put on and wear for a week the badge that sacrifice has made sacred,—to enrol once again our name and pledge our support to her cause; and for each one of us to give her our dollar—One Dollar—the membership dole, which, if everyone responds, will provide her with far more than enough to do all the things which she now wants to do.

Disease carries off far more than destruction. The toll of the epidemic is longer than the totals of all the casualty lists; and it is to enable all of us everywhere to prevent disease and forestall the epidemic that the Red Cross now consecrates itself.

Remember, it is RED CROSS that asks you. Be among the first of more than a million citizens of Canada who will inscribe their names on the roll next week.

RED CROSS has sought by every means to make enrolment as simple as humanly possible in every community of Western Canada. A thorough canvass has been organized.

All you need to do is to subscribe your name, pay the membership fee of One Dollar, secure the official receipt which is your certificate of membership, and receive the badge.

Be sure and wear the badge next week! Wear it not only for the pride you should take in the act, but to inspire others and to announce to busy canvassers that they need not ask you again.

But Red Cross cannot possibly reach everyone. Not only decide to enrol, not only be ready to enrol, but take the trouble to go to the Red Cross Headquarters in your community, enrol yourself, and ask others to do the same.

Every Authorised Canvasser will carry an OFFICIAL CERTIFICATE in the style of the form shown here. Pay your money only to an authorised canvasser carrying properly executed certificate.
